Shed news

Morning Tea

We have started a "gold coin" collection for morning tea. There is a jar beside the sign-in book.

KCMS Shirts

The first order of shirts has arrived. The list is beside the attendance book. Please sign this list, and collect your shirt from the box in the admin office.

If you were not in this initial order, another one is going in very soon, so please make sure with Peter Polain that you are on the next order. If you would like an additional shirt, the cost is $40.

Small bottles

The gardening team is looking for small milk and water plastic bottles, 0.5-1litre, that they can use to grow seedlings. They can also use a few large, 2litre size. Please bring any along that you will not re-use, and they can be put in the garden shed.

Work benches

The large timber bench is now completed. It looks so good that it will be a shame to use it and mess it up! Two more benches have just been painted, and are ready to have their bench tops fitted next week. Stripping back the donated trailer continues apace.

Operating hours

We have been talking to the members at the sessions this week about extending our hours. For the sake of consistency, we will keep them all the same.

From next week, our hours will be 08:30 - 12:30.

Copied messages about coming events

The Karrinyup Men's Shed gets lots of messages about coming events which may be of interest to members, like the ones copied below, and the two sent on 20 September.

The Shed passes these on for info only, and if individual members would like to get involved, they are most welcome. But they are usually not a Karrinyup Men's Shed activity.

If we are forwarding anything which is a Karrinyup Men's Shed activity, or an endorsed project such as the Men's Sheds of WA State Conference, then our covering message will say this.

2018 Men's Sheds Conference

Secretary Tony Strickland says he will be happy to coordinate a group from our Shed to go to the 2018 Men's Sheds Conference, see details in the email copied below.

He can also endorse this as an informative day about good things for Men's Sheds. He thoroughly enjoyed last year's conference in Merredin.

Contact Tony if you are interested.
